Ninth meeting of the Working Group of the Protocol on PRTRs (Geneva, 24-25 November 2022) – Item 5(b) Development of the Protocol

Statement by Israel

I would like to inform you that in the annual Israeli PRTR report for 2021, published in August 2022, there is a chapter examining the relationship between the level of contaminants emissions to air in a local authority, and its socio-economic index of that local authority as defined by Israel's Central Bureau of Statistics.

The report's findings are that there are different types of relationship between pollutants emissions and the socioeconomic index according to the type of local authority - municipality, local council, or regional council.

The work has been translated to English and is available on the meeting web page.
