This compares to the millions of euros available to the lobbies that influence EU policy in favour of wind energy.

Perhaps this dichotomy explains why the wind industry has so much success, in spite of the harm it is doing to the EU and its citizens, its landscapes, its wildlife, its economy, its finances (huge sovereign debts), its cultural heritage, and the health of its people, among other deleterious effects.
