ACCC/C/2008/33 on the implementation of Decision V/9N.

Dear Ms Marshall,

Further to my submission (Item 1. below, regarding Dr. Rachel Connor and Private Water Supplies), it is very important to bring to the party's attention details of further developments in relation to access for justice in this case:

In Scotland the fear of the ongoing costs of Judicial Review as in the case of Sneddons Law, makes access to justice in environmental matters unavailable to all but the wealthy. By upholding the appeal to discharge condition 36, designed to protect private water supplies and/or provide alternative sustainable supplies of potable water which may be needed as a consequence of the Sneddon Law windfarm development, the Scottish Government have jeopardised Human Rights under Article 8 to a clean, safe supply of water.

Because the planning conditions discharged by Scottish Government Reporter in February 2017 does not appear to meet the terms of planning law and guidance from the Scottish Government, the Council is unable to provide satisfactory enforcement.

Dr Rachel Connor, a relevant person for a large private water supply supplying a dairy farm, two stock farms and 6 other homes and steadings, which is deemed to be at significant risk from the Sneddon Law windfarm development has written the attached letter for your attention. I also enclose her letter to the Paul Cackette, Esq, Chief Reporter Directorate of Planning and Environmental Appeals.

Yours sincerely,

Susan Crosthwaite
