klima:aktiv is the Austrian initiative for climate protection launched by the “Federal Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry, Environment and Water Management”. The program fosters a competitive low-carbon economy based on efficient and sustainable use of resources, the protection of the environment, and the establishment of innovative green technologies and production practises. Consequently it allows households and companies to take well-informed green choices. This program contributes to the Austrian national climate and energy strategy as well as the strategies on clean air, health and sustainable use of resources. klima:active follows the idea of a market transformation towards green markets, with the aim to raise the share of renewables and of energy efficient products and services. Essential for the market transformation approach is an active and comprehensive inclusion of all relevant market players and stakeholders. The program’s ultimate objective is to reduce greenhouse gas emissions by encouraging sustainable buildings, green jobs, green efficient economy, efficiency means for households and municipalities, renewable energy as well as sustainable mobility.
