PROPOSAL FOR AMENDMENTS TO
ANNEXES A AND B OF ADR

Section 5.4.3

Instructions in writing

Transmitted by the International Federation of Freight Forwarders Association (FIATA)
and the International Road Transport Union (IRU)

2. FIATA, together with the IRU, has started the initiative for the reformatting of the current, unsatisfactory provisions on instructions in writing (ECE/TRANS/WP.15/2005/17).

3. The key element that written instructions are exclusively addressing drivers has been confirmed by WP.15.

4. Further details have been discussed in two working group sessions where a majority of delegates agreed to adopt the original FIATA / IRU approach
   - to have one single instruction in writing (driver instruction) to be carried on board the vehicle for any dangerous goods transport operation
   - to limit the language used to the one the driver can read and understand
   - to limit the devices for personal and general protection to those the driver really needs and is capable of handling within the limited actions he is allowed to carry out in case of an incident or accident.

5. The proposal by Germany reflects the latest discussion and is an excellent contribution to the final decision by merging the results taken so far as well as taking into account the major concerns of the different approaches expressed by delegates.

6. FIATA and the IRU support the German proposal.
FIATA and the IRU conducted an investigation on the problems encountered in practice and collecting existing instructions in writing which are handed out to drivers on a daily basis.

Variations in information for the same substances, particularly on the protection equipment, were identified, regardless if carried in packages, bulk or tank, which could lead to misinterpretation and confusion in handling the situation by the driver as well as being counterproductive with regard to safety.

This presentation was already held during the second working group session.

Demands for the future:
- Driver is not a deputy fire fighter!
- Driver needs advice on consistent general action to be taken!
- Driver training should aim to teach automatic behaviour in emergency situations!
- There is no need to separate packaged goods and bulk transport!

One single instruction in writing

Thank you, Dear Delegates, for supporting the German proposal on the simplification of the instruction in writing to:
- Have one single instruction in writing (driver instruction) to be carried on board the vehicle during any dangerous goods transport operation.
- Limit the language to one the driver can read and understand.
