Biennial evaluation

Note by the secretariat

The secretariat presents hereafter a short analysis of the information available on the UNECE website.

Country information

http://www.unece.org/trans/danger/publi/adr/country-info_e.html

For 34 countries, the information is detailed and regularly updated. For 12 countries, only the contact details of the main competent authority is available.

For 1 country (Tajikistan) the country information is missing.

We can estimate that 73% of the information is available in accordance with 1.8.5.

ADR Drivers certificates

http://www.unece.org/trans/danger/publi/adr/adr_certificates.html

31 countries (64.5 %) sent their models of certificates.

We do not know if certificates are issued in the remaining countries.

Instructions in writing

The translated versions of the website do not cover all the official languages of the ADR countries. For 11 countries, none of the official languages is available on the website. For the other countries (77%), at least one official language is available.

Accident reports

Since 2004, we received officially the reports published on our website at

<http://www.unece.org/trans/danger/publi/adr/accidents.html>

Plus one notification from United Kingdom in October 2012, one from Luxembourg in August 2013 and one from Norway in September 2015.

In October 2006 the WP.15 requested the secretariat to publish the accident reports on the website. However we only publish the reports sent by the Competent Authorities and only when we have the green light from the submitting country as some reports may contain confidential information.

In addition, some countries volunteered to feed the test-database provided by France in relation with the work of the Joint Meeting. The information uploaded in the database is not considered as official notification since we are still in pilot phase. Countries participating in the test are Croatia, Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland.
