In November 3, 2014, China National Institute of Standardization (CNIS) formally submitted the code of Rugao Port to UNECE for approval. According to the newly revised "The Ports and other Location Codes for the People's Republic of China", Rugao Port has been assigned the LOCODE as "CNRGG". The UNECE will include this entry to the current LOCODE directory before the end of this month.

The acquisition of the UN/LOCODE for Rugao Port will help it to further improve its function as a national level open port, which would open the door for Rugao Port to develop international trade business.
