HOUSING AFFORDABILITY IN THE GENEVA UN CHARTER ON SUSTAINABLE HOUSING

UNECE

Geneva UN Charter on Sustainable Housing is the expression of political will of 56 member States to:

- ensure decent affordable housing and urban infrastructure to all;
- support cities and human settlements adopting and implementing smart sustainable city concepts;
- integrated policies and plans to support: inclusion, including socially mixed communities;
- resource efficiency; and resilience to climate change and disasters.

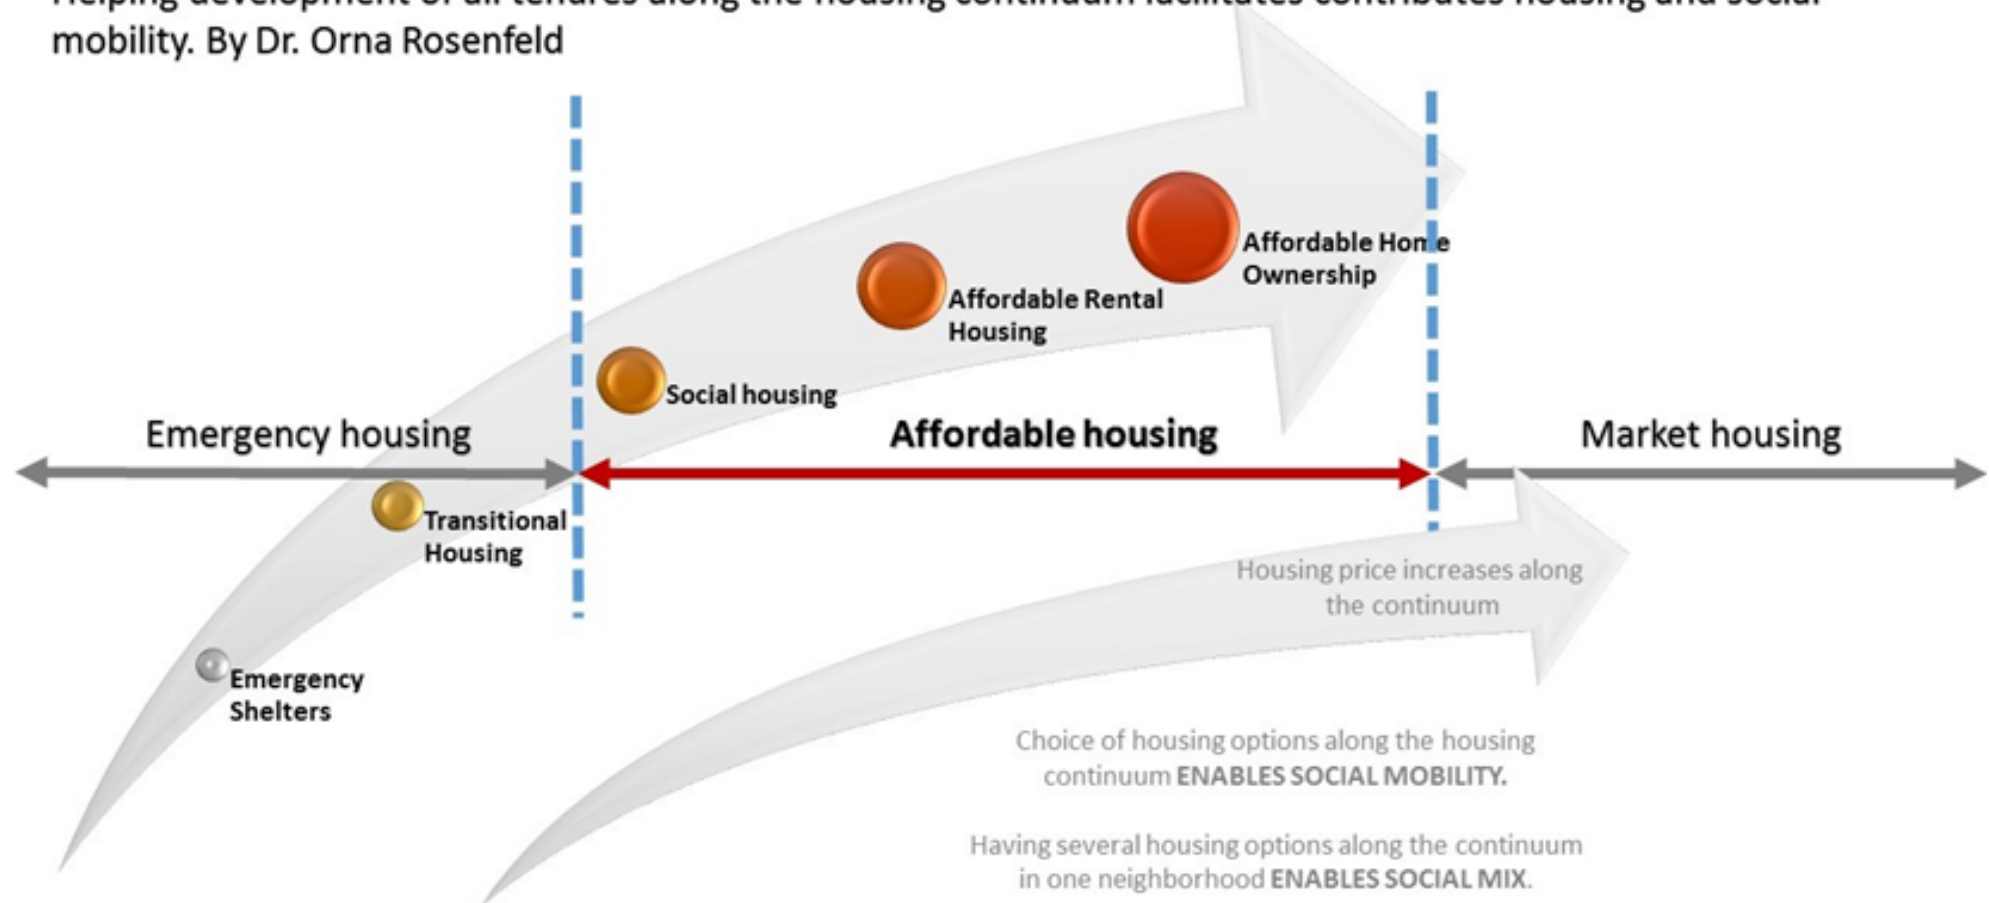

HOUSING CONTINUUM FOR DIVERSE HOUSING NEEDS

Housing Continuum

Helping development of all tenures along the housing continuum facilitates contributes housing and social mobility. By Dr. Orna Rosenfeld

Project „Evidence-based policies for sustainable housing and urban development in selected countries with economies in transition“

Aim of the project: to strengthen national capacities for development of evidence-based policies for sustainable housing and urban development, and to assist national governments, by:

- elaborating a policy paper and guidelines,
- providing technical advice on development of evidence-based policies,
- promoting intersectoral cooperation and building capacity on sustainable housing through the provision of advisory services, training materials, organization of workshops and online trainings.
- Events in countries: Albania, Georgia, Kyrgyzstan, Ukraine; also in Belarus and Kazakhstan

For the European Union member States in Brussels in December 2018, Lyon, France – June 2019

Project „Evidence-based policies for sustainable housing and urban development in selected countries with economies in transition“

Relevance to SDGs: improving capacities to achieve SDG 11 ‘Make cities and human settlements inclusive, safe, resilient and sustainable’, especially the target 11.1 ‘by 2030, to provide access for all to adequate safe and affordable housing’.
