GGG_Wave I

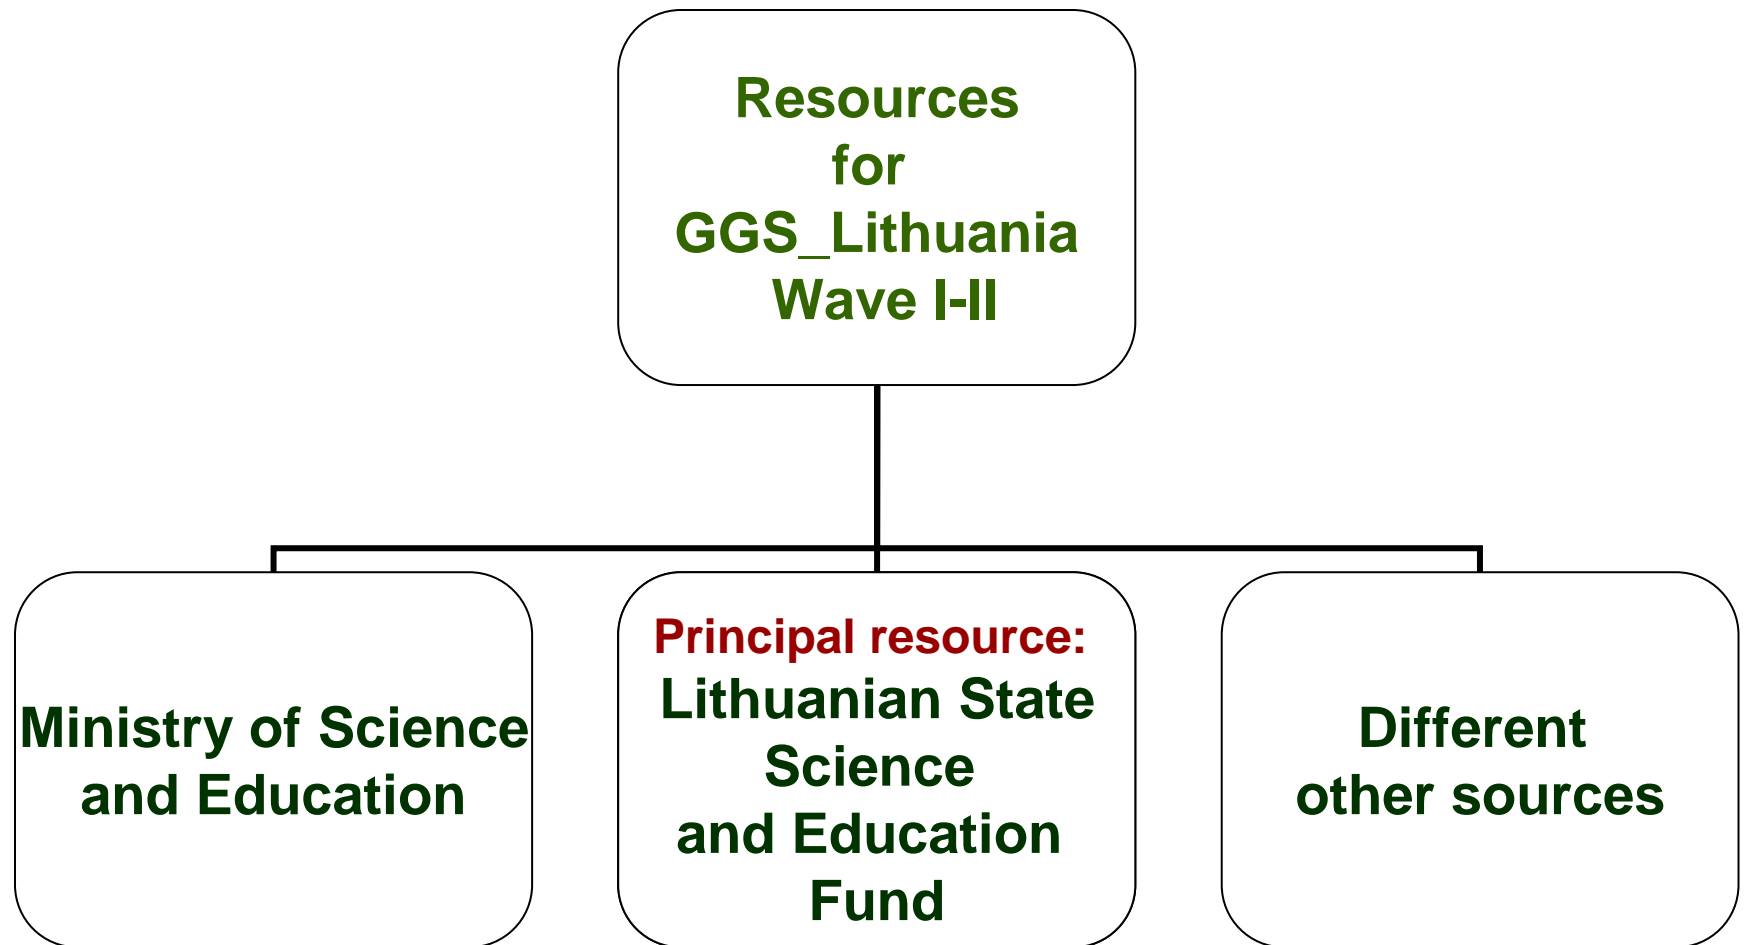

Sample design(I)

- Sample population – permanent residents of Lithuania aged 18-79
- Sample size – 10 000
- Sampling - Random stratified, multi-staged
 - First stage: definition of administrative regions of Lithuania (10 regions)
 - In each region settlements grouped into big, medium, small towns and villages
 - PSU number in each category determined
 - Total number of PSU 1000
 - 10 interviews conducted per PSU

Sample design (II)

- Random route methodology used for selecting respondents in PSU
- Gallup methodology of random routing used for selection of the household (right hand rule and third door)
- Last birthday rule used for selection of respondent at the household

Fieldwork Funding

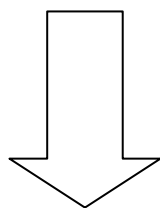

Pilot Study_Wave 1

- March 2006
- Number of Respondents – 150
 - 75 men + 75 women
 - 95 aged 18-49 + 55 aged 50-79
- Number of Interviewers – 104
- Number of settlements – 67
- Mean length of the interview – 139 min.
 - Min – 54 min., max – 280 min
 - Mode – 95 min.
 - 25th percentile – 105 min
 - Median 130 min.
 - 75th percentile – 172 min

Pilot study revealed

- Questionnaire is too long and too complicated
- Critical limit - one hour
- Two unacceptable themes:
 - Possessions in household and inheritance
 - Partners and fertility (for older people)

Adaptation of the questionnaire:

- Section 10 (on household possessions, incomes and transfer)
 - General question added about the eagerness of respondent to answer the questions on possessions
 - Some questions removed
