

UNECE Guidance on Communicating Gender Statistics

Publication update

UNECE

Background

- CES Bureau established Task Force on communicating gender statistics in February 2018
- Objective: develop guidance for NSOs and other data producers on communicating gender statistics
- Outputs:
 1. Concise online guidance notes
 2. Online repository of good practice examples

Guidance notes

Themes and contents

UNEP

Communicating about the Gender Pay Gap

Maintaining impartiality when communicating
gender statistics

Communicating statistics on gender-based violence

Interacting with users of gender statistics

The language of gender in statistical communication

Addressing data gaps in gender statistics

Contents

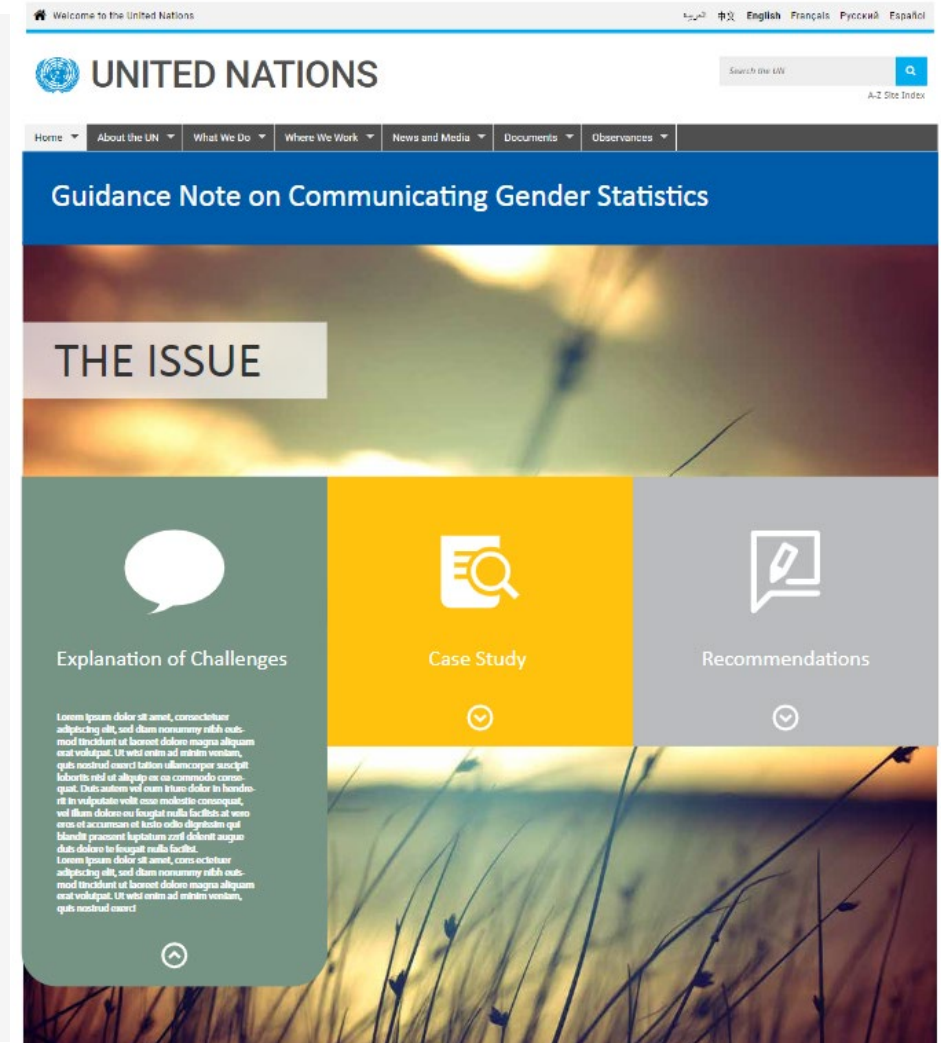

1. The issue
2. Challenges
3. Recommendations
4. Examples

Publication

Status and next steps

- Consultation among CES countries March-April 2020
 - Comments from 42 countries, 4 organizations
- CES endorsed Guidance during June 2020 plenary session
- Print version of Guidance available on meeting website: bit.ly/UNECEGenderStats2020
- Good practice repository temporarily hosted on wiki: bit.ly/genderstatsgoodpractices
- Online guidance notes and good practice repository coming soon

Thank you!

Chair: Helen Cahill, Ireland

Task Force members: Albania, Australia, Belarus, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Canada, Chile, Czechia, Finland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Mexico, Republic of Moldova, Russian Federation, Slovenia, South Africa, Turkey, United Kingdom, CIS-Stat, Council of Europe, Data2X, Eurostat, UN Women, UNECE, UNICEF

Guidance note leaders:

1. Communicating about the Gender Pay Gap, Melissa Moyser
2. Communicating statistics on gender-based violence, Andrew Moore
3. The language of gender in statistical communication, Karen Hurrell
4. Maintaining impartiality when communicating gender statistics, Marjut Pietiläinen
5. Interacting with users of gender statistics, Cristina Freguja & Sara Demofonti
6. Addressing data gaps, Eleanor Carey

