

Work on gender statistics under the Conference of European Statisticians

Andres Vikat

UNECE Statistical Division

UNECE online meeting on measuring gender issues at times of the pandemic, 13-14 October 2020

Guidance on communicating gender statistics

- Endorsed by the 2020 CES plenary session
- Presentation today by Kristen Jeffers (UNECE)
- UNECE Secretariat is processing the publication
- Periodic updates on good practices from countries
- Web platform for dissemination to be developed

Guidance for measuring intra-household power and decision-making

- Endorsed by the 2020 CES plenary session
- Task force led by Pierre Turcotte (Statistics Canada), 2017-2020
- Public and private gender inequalities are mutually reinforcing. So far, measurement mainly the about the public sphere
- Content: current practices; indicators; testing of survey questions; recommendations
- UNECE Secretariat is processing the publication

Gender statistics and the Covid pandemic

- Presentation yesterday by Pierre Turcotte (Canada)
- Exploring the development of a minimum set of questions to measure the differentiated impact of the pandemic on women and men
- Mapping of current Covid-related activities in the area of gender statistics
- Document for the CES Bureau (15-16 Oct)

Task team on measuring gender identity

- Presentation today by Andrew Nash (UK)
- Networking platform
- Progress report to the October 2021 meeting of the CES Bureau, including proposals for taking work forward

2021 UNECE Work Session on Gender Statistics

- Bern, Switzerland
- 29 September
- Part of a week of events
 - Global Forum on Gender Statistics (30 September – 2 October)
 - United Nations World Data Forum (3-6 October)

CES work on gender statistics

- Guidance on communicating gender statistics
- Guidance for measuring intra-household power and decision-making
- Gender statistics and the Covid pandemic: minimum set of questions
- Task team on measuring gender identity
- Preparation of the 2021 Work Session (29 Sep)

Comments?

Suggestions?