The new Strategic Framework for FAO

Eduardo Rojas-Briales, Assistant Director-General, Forestry Department
FAO’s Vision: A world free from hunger and malnutrition where food and agriculture contribute to improving the living standards of all, especially the poorest, in an economically, socially and environmentally sustainable manner.

- Eradication of hunger
- Elimination of poverty
- Sustainable management and use of natural resources

1) Hunger eradicated
2) Agricultural productivity & sustainability improved
3) Poverty reduced
4) Inclusive & efficient agricultural & food systems
5) Societies resilient to shocks

Gender & Governance mainstreamed across all objectives
The new strategic framework

1. Contribute to eradication of hunger, food insecurity and malnutrition
2. Increase and improve provision of goods and services from agriculture, forestry and fisheries in a sustainable manner
3. Reduce rural poverty
4. Enable more inclusive and efficient agricultural and food systems at local, national and international levels
5. Increase the resilience of livelihoods to threats and crises
Forestry in the new strategic framework

- SO1: Awareness raising of forests’ contribution to food security and nutrition; policy harmonization; addressing tenure; integration of forestry into food security policies; improving data availability

- SO2: Forest assessment, management and restoration; forest governance, policies and institutions
Forestry in the new strategic framework

- SO3: Forests and poverty reduction; small forest-based enterprise development; access to forest resources; forest producer organizations and rural service provision; decent employment
- SO4: Forest products value chains; forest products statistics; forest finance and economics; forest industry development
- SO5: Prevention and management of forest fires, pests and diseases
Points for consideration

The Commission is invited to provide guidance on:

• Areas of cross cutting work where the Organization should strengthen the integration of Forestry to better contribute to the goals of food security and poverty reduction

• Other key priority areas of work to strengthen in further elaborating the action plans for the five new proposed Strategic Objectives

• Emerging issues of priority for the FAO Forestry programme at regional and global levels

• The need to revise the Forestry Strategy in the light of the evolving new Strategic Framework of the Organization
