

Informal non-exhaustive Reference List of Citrus Fruit Varieties<sup>1</sup>

28 August 2018

Some of the varieties listed in the following may be marketed under names for which trademark protection has been sought or obtained in one or more countries. Names believed by the United Nations to be varietal names are listed in the first column. Other names by which the United Nations believes the variety may be known are listed in the second column. None of these two columns is intended to include trademarks. References to known trademarks have been included in the third column for information only. The presence of any trademarks in the third column does not constitute any licence or permission to use that trademark – such licence must come directly from the trademark owner. In addition, the absence of a trademark in the third column does not constitute any indication that there is no registered/pending trademark for such a variety. For labelling requirements please refer to section VI of the UNECE citrus fruit standard FFV-14.<sup>2</sup>

The following list is based on the scientific names as agreed for the standard. It includes

- the changes agreed for the Citrus fruit standards at the April 2016 session of the Specialized Section on Standardization of Fresh Fruit and Vegetables,
- the contributions from Italy, Morocco, Netherlands, South Africa, Spain, USA (as of 2 March 2017),
- the contributions of the working group 3 May 2017 and
- the written contributions of Spain 6 May 2017.

The following principles apply:

- 1) The variety name or spelling of this name is taken as referenced by the patent holder.
- 2) Synonyms can have different spellings.
- 3) Synonyms having a similar spelling as registered or patented trademarks are not included in the list in order not to spoil the protection of the trademark.

In this document, amendments are highlighted with respect to the document GE1_FFV_Citrusfruit VarietyList_SouthAfrica_INF24.

This version takes into account the publication “Citrus of the World” [CoW], A Citrus directory, Version 2.0, September 2002 (citruspages.free.fr/citrusoftheworld.pdf)

<sup>2</sup> Some of the varietal names listed in the first column may indicate varieties for which patent protection has been obtained in one or more countries. Such proprietary varieties may only be produced or traded by those authorized by the patent holder to do so under an appropriate licence. The United Nations takes no position as to the validity of any such patent or the rights of any such patent-holder or its licensee regarding the production or trading of any such variety.

The United Nations endeavoured to ensure that no trademark names are listed in columns 1, and 2 of the table. However, it is the responsibility of any trademark owner to notify the United Nations promptly if a trademark name has been included in the table and to provide the United Nations (see address below) with an appropriate varietal, or generic name for the variety, as well as adequate evidence ownership of any applicable patent or trademark regarding such variety so that the list can be amended. Provided that no further information is needed from the trademark holder, the Working Party on Agricultural Quality Standards will change the list accordingly at the session following receipt of the information. The United Nations takes no position as to the validity of any such trademarks or the rights of any such trademark owners or their licensees.
