The implementation of the SDGs is relevant not only at the global and national levels, but also at the level of regional economic associations.

This side event will also focus on how supranational regulation can support the efforts of member states from the EAEU region to promote regional economic integration, sustainable and inclusive economic growth.

There will be an exchange of information in the field of development, analysis and monitoring of measures to achieve the SDGs, assessment of their effectiveness, as well as key measures and decisions of the Eurasian Economic Commission adopted by the member states in order to deal the economic and social consequences of the pandemic COVID-19.

Key points:

- The Eurasian Economic Union member states have consolidated their commitment to sustainable development
- Mechanisms for responding to threats of the macroeconomic stability in the context of the global economic crisis caused by the pandemic COVID-19
- The current EEC tools and work plans in terms of promoting the implementation of the UN SDGs, including the Strategy for economic integration development 2025, conclusions.

Organizer:

Eurasian Economic Commission

Potential participants:

Officials of the Eurasian Economic Commission and the Eurasian Economic Union member state, representatives of international organizations, development institutions and science community.
