Understanding and measuring success together:

The framework for tracking progress throughout the Decade of Healthy Ageing draws on:

Existing Indicators e.g.
- WHO Global strategy and action plan on ageing and health
  https://www.who.int/ageing/commit-action/measuring-progress/en/
- SDG indicators - disaggregating data by age

Needs to align with the way countries monitor and evaluate their national policies and strategies on ageing for example
- the reporting cycle of the Madrid International Plan of Action on Ageing and
- voluntary national reviews on progress in achieving the Sustainable Development Goals.

Goes beyond numbers .... and recognizes the importance of citizen voice

Reporting every three years to WHA and UNGA (2023, 2026, 2029)

The Decade of Healthy Ageing (2020-2025), endorsed by the World Health Assembly in August 2020, seeks to improve the lives of older people, their families and communities through collective action on key areas: changing how we think, feel and act towards age and ageing; developing communities in ways that foster the abilities of older people; delivering person-centered integrated care and primary health services responsive to older people; and providing older people who need it with access to quality long-term care.

The WHO Ageing Data Portal brings together data on available global indicators relevant to monitoring the health and well-being of people aged 60 years and over. Through maps, charts and tables, the portal offers tailored options for visualization and analysis of the data. This information will strengthen the visibility of older people, help inform policy to improve health and well-being in countries in line with global, regional and national commitments.
