Housing Affordability and the #Housing2030 initiative

Improving housing affordability is currently one of the most important policy challenges as countries and cities in the UNECE region face an undersupply of affordable housing, continuous increase of urban rents, low quality housing and urban infrastructure, limited access to land for housing construction and renovation, and mounting urban poverty and homelessness.

UNECE, UN-Habitat and Housing Europe launched the #Housing2030 initiative – the housing affordability study with the goal of improving capacities of national and local governments to formulate policies that improve housing affordability and housing sustainability in the UNECE region.

The objectives of the study are to:

- Explore housing affordability challenges and existing policy instruments for improving housing affordability in the UNECE region
- Facilitate the exchange and dissemination of “good practices” in improving housing affordability among countries and cities of the UNECE region
- Identify needs of policy-makers to further develop and implement policies addressing housing affordability.

Network of Centres of Excellence

The current Network of Centres of Excellence includes eight Centres across eight countries. The Centres of Excellence support implementation of the Geneva UN Charter on Sustainable Housing through capacity building, advisory services, studies, awareness-raising, knowledge-sharing, and actual projects. These all aim to improve city quality of life and provide affordable, energy-efficient housing for all.

The Centres are established as a network under the coordination of the UNECE. Activities of the Centres of Excellence are coordinated by the secretariat. The individual Centres are planning a range project and events related to Energy Efficiency in Buildings.

Example:

The Centre of Excellence on Sustainable Housing in Estonia works towards achieving energy efficiency and reducing housing costs for middle- and low-income households. The Centre will

- plan and coordinate public dissemination activities, national and international networking
- organize new training programs
- participate in the preparation of housing policy and legal acts in Estonia and EU level
- work with a new initiative POWERPOOR to reduce energy poverty in Estonia
