

Methane Mondays

Rules of Procedure

- The events are held in English in Russian.
- They are held on Zoom platform
- The events last 90 minutes and are held on bi-monthly basis.
- They are recorded only for the purpose of preparing a summary. The recordings will not be published anywhere, and they will not be made public in any other way.
- The summary of each meeting will be published on the UNECE webpage dedicated to Methane Mondays (<https://unece.org/methane-mondays>) and it will be rather general, not linking any speaker with any particular statement.
- Presentations delivered during the meeting, if not requested otherwise, will be available on the UNECE webpage dedicated to Methane Mondays (<https://unece.org/methane-mondays>).
- Participants are encouraged to be active and take the floor. To take the floor participants are asked to raise their hand so that the moderator is aware of their willingness to intervene.
- Participants who wish to raise some issue but prefer not to take the floor are encouraged to use the chat.
- All comments related to the discussed matters are welcome. All opinions matter. There are no stupid questions.
- Participants are asked to refrain from using anything that has been said during the discussions in any statements, reports, or communications issued by their respective organizations or institutions, unless it is a jointly agreed “official” document or communication resulting from the meetings,
- Participants are asked to be respectful to one another.
- The organizers reserve the right to remove from the meeting anyone who does not follow the rules.
- In case of any questions or comments related to Methane Mondays please contact Mr. Michal Drabik at michal.drabik@un.org
