

How the heck did I end up here?

The intention of our webinar is to show a variety of real-life examples, where former students of a forest related field introduce their career paths. Nowadays, there are many opportunities for young students to choose a career. This is fantastic on the one hand, but can be scary on the other hand since there is no clear job-profile anymore. Especially with new jobs related to forests coming up in e.g. the bioeconomy, health, education or societal level, opportunities are huge.
