

Case study for Road Map on Statistics for SDGs 2.0
Albania: Combining census data with other sources

Description

The Albanian national Institute of Statistics, INSTAT collects yearly data for people with disabilities, i.e. people with a medical certificate for their disability. Questions that identify the disabled population will also be included in the Population and Housing Census 2020, as they were in the previous one in 2011. Information from these census questions identifies a broader and self-perceived limitation in performing activities. Another data source for disabled is the European Health Interview Survey, which also identifies people with disabilities. All three data sources can be compared and published to obtain a picture of this population group. They can also be cross tabulated with other variables like sex, region, etc.
