Meeting of the Working Group on preparation to the Seventh Meeting of the Interministerial Coordination
Council to the National Dialogue on Water Policy in Kazakhstan

Project Background

- Increasing evidence on benefits of co-operation
- Climate action requires even stronger regional cooperation
- Build on positive developments in regional co-operation towards resource security
- “Operationalise” the nexus
- IKI support for action in this area
- 6-month preparatory phase

- Other development co-operation partners
- Private sector
- Academia
- Civil society organisations

Need for strengthened tools and evidence for the nexus

- Clearer “business case” for co-operation on nexus
- Compelling evidence base to secure political support
- More pilot projects to demonstrate the possibilities of nexus
- Practical tools and instruments to support cooperation
- Capacity building and dialogue to support progress
- Synergies with past and on-going work on the nexus

Proposed action under the new nexus project (2022-2025)

1. Mainstream the nexus principles into development planning
2. Expand evidence base on benefits of the nexus
3. Enhance access to finance for the nexus approach
4. Design a financing mechanism to promote nexus investments
5. Develop practical tools and instruments to support practitioners
6. Organise regional political dialogue and facilitate capacity development
