

Building automotive security from the inside out

Presentation Abstract

Many cybersecurity techniques focus on securing the perimeter of critical computer systems, and recovering in the event of failure. In this talk we'll take a new perspective on building safe and secure systems with the connected automobile in mind