UNECE Code Mark Registry

This registry is listing information provided by those countries officially issuing or recognizing a code allowed to replace the indication of name and physical address of the packer and/or dispatcher/exporter as requested by the UNECE marketing standards for fresh fruit and vegetables as well as for dry and dried produce.

Note: The national legislation of a number of countries requires the explicit declaration of the name and address. However, in cases where a code mark may be / is used, the reference “packer and/or dispatcher (or equivalent abbreviations)” must be indicated in close connection with the code mark, and the code mark should be preceded with the ISO 3166 (alpha) country code of the recognizing country, if not the country of origin.

Examples for indication on the package: “Packer: KCB 1234567 / country of origin: Netherlands” or “Exp.: NL-KCB 1234567 / country of origin: Belgium”

Column 2 provides a specimen and/or the structure of the code concerned.

Column 3 provides name and address including a functional email address of the competent authority.

Column 4 provides explanations and may include an address where a verification of a code is possible.

National Registry of Fruit and Vegetable Packing Establishments: Companies that wish to process fruits or vegetables (packing houses) must be previously authorized by SENASA to carry out the said activity, both for the domestic market and for export. Once SENASA verifies that the establishment complies with the requirements of the current standard, it registers the establishment in the National Register of Fruit and Vegetable Packing Establishments, assigning it an alpha-numeric code that identifies it. This code must be displayed on the label of all products produced by this establishment. <li data-bbox="1193 818 2116 1249"> 2. National Sanitary Registry of Agricultural Products (RENSPA): All that establishments that have a primary production of any agricultural type must be registered in the RENSPA. By means of a sworn statement, the producer provides information about the property, the production that it carries out and the person responsible for it. SENASA assigns a code to each primary production site registered in the RENSPA, which allows it to be identified in case of a need to carry out preventive actions, control or eradication of pests or diseases. This code is not displayed on the product label. The RENSPA Code is not mandatory for commercial export transactions. However, some establishments add to the label the RENSPA code that SENASA grants to the producer.

Colombia	ICA identification code of the facility: 9 digits identification code of the exporter: 6 digits	Instituto Colombiano Agropecuario (ICA) Avenida Calle 26 # 85b – 09 Phone: (571) 332 3700 – 288 4800 Web: www.ica.gov.co Email: contactenos@ica.gov.co	The ICA currently has the regulatory framework of resolution 448 of January 20, 2016: "by means of which the requirements for the registration by ICA of the production facilities are established that are producing fresh produce for export, as well as the registry of exporters and the registry of the packaging plants of fresh produce vegetables for export. In paragraph 1 of article 7, it indicates the following: "The number of this registry will be the ICA identification code of the facility and will be composed of nine (9) digits in the following way: the first two (2) correspond to the department code, the three (3) following ones are the code of the municipality and the four (4) last to the consecutive number of the previous record of the municipality ranging from 0001 to 9999 ". This means that all farms producing fresh produce for export are registered at ICA and they are assigned a code by means of an administrative act (Resolution issued by the ICA). This code is the identification number of the facility which must be on any box or package in which the produce from this facility is exported (Numeral 19.4, Art. 19, Res. 448 of 2016)

			The only paragraph of Article 15, which is related to the registration of an EXPORTER of fresh produce, indicates the following: "The number of this record will be the identification code of the exporter at ICA and will consist of six (6) digits: the first two (2) correspond to the department code and the four (4) following the consecutive number of records issued at the national level ranging from 0001 to 9999 ". In the only paragraph of Article 23, which is related to the registration of a PACKAGING PLANT of fresh produce, indicates the following: "The number of this record will be the identification code of the packing plant at ICA and it will be composed of three (3) letters and six (6) digits in the following way: the letters EMP, the two (2) first digits correspond to the department code and the four (4) following the consecutive number of registrations at the national level ranging from 0001 to 9999. " In this way, every farm, exporter and packing plant that registers with the ICA for the export of fresh produce (fruits, vegetables, aromatic herbs, tubers, etc.) must register with the ICA and in turn they will be assigned an identification code, according to Res. 448 of 2016. All shipments are shipped with the respective certificate.

The first two characters refer to the country and in the case of Greece it is always GR. The next six characters correspond to the trader's registration number as this number is contained in the trader database. The next character may be A or B. Traders of type "A" own or rent packaging facilities and also dispose storage facilities, while traders of type "B" do not dispose the aforementioned packaging and storage facilities. Traders of type "B" collaborate with traders of type "A" for the packaging and storage of their products. The following five characters refer to the registration number of packaging facilities as it is contained in the trader database. Concerning, the trader of type "B", the registration number of packaging facilities represents the packaging facilities of the trader of type "A", with whom trader of type "B" collaborates. In this case, the registration number of trader of type "A" should be also mentioned in the labelling of the product. The last three characters refer to the product code according to the codes used in the communication of non-conformity cases. Code mark of trader of type A:

The legal basis for these controls is Communique no. 2020/21 on Risk Based Inspections of Certain Agricultural Products at Export and Import. The Communique also lays down the rules on affixing a “Consignment/Lot No.” label on export consignments. The Consignment/Lot no. serves as a code mark for traceability. It is used together with the official name/brand of the exporter, and takes the following structure: <table border="1" data-bbox="1198 874 1697 995"> <thead> <tr> <th colspan="4">Consignment/Lot №</th> </tr> <tr> <th colspan="2">Facility Code №</th> <th rowspan="2">Inspectorate Code</th> <th rowspan="2">Lot №</th> </tr> <tr> <th>Province Code</th> <th>Facility Code №</th> </tr> </thead> <tbody> <tr> <td>31</td> <td>0019983</td> <td>10</td> <td>47</td> </tr> </tbody> </table> The facility code is a code given to each facility registered in MoE’s electronic database. First 9 digits (310019983) The inspectorate code identifies which of the 40 MoE inspectorates carried out the controls. The Lot no. starts with 1 for each facility at the beginning of the year. In this example, Lot no. 47 means that this is the 47th export quality control application made by facility no 310019983 within the current year.	Consignment/Lot №				Facility Code №		Inspectorate Code	Lot №	Province Code	Facility Code №	31	0019983	10	47
